RAR,
I am lead vocalist
with a band in Coventry called, 'Criminal Class'
it is my band, I thought of the name and picked
the musicians in it.
We are an anti-police band and also opposed to racism, and therefore live to play RAR

particularly like to play gigs to raise money for those who have suffered at the hands of the police (ie: Jimmy Brian Peach etc.)

I don't believe in politics in music too much but I do not like racial prejudice and the abuse of police powers
and I am not afraid to stand up and state this.

how (technical bits)

The camera I use is a Pentax K1000 a SLR it cost me £140 and I use its standard 50 mm lens. Pentax have just brought out a 'better' easier to use camera the M.V. which costs approximately the same. This has put the price of a new K 1000 down to about £90 so mine is probably worth about half that now.

I use HP5 film, a fast low film (400 A.S.A.) even though its a fast film (more light sensitive) its not fast enough for gig lighting conditions without recourse to flash, so I have to over rate the film to I600 (this means in effect pretending the film is more light sensitive than it really is) this reduces the image quality, but does not falsify it like flash does, and means the film has to have extended development. I develop my film in ID11 diluted 3:1 for approx 35 mins at 20°C. Fixing is as per normal. Now I do all my printing at CIRC (Who I would like to thank for use of their equipment). I print all my photos on grade 4 Ilfo speed which gives a contrasting print.

why

I produce these images now because I/. I'm interested in using photography (not this sort) 2/. Its a useful way of finding out about some areas of the music biz (demystifies it) 3/. no one else seems to regularly. I think my (and others peoples) pics that go in A.S. are totally crap (except this issue) and not what I think should be put across at all.

The music business presents its products/musicians as more than human stars, a fantasy commodity (one which is ultimately unobtainable) the musicians bands I photo are mainly (with rare exceptions) caught up with and involved in trying to get into this position, I don't think its my job to help this/to put a few people on a photographic pedestal, I should be pointing this out showing that these bands are not a great improvement over everyone else, that it is not some mysterious 'star' quality which drives them on but real tangible things like money, knowing the right people etc. By showing these bands without reference to the rest of the situation the venue/ equipment/ audience, then the mystery, the fantasy is perpetuated. A photo shows what you want it to show E.M.I. et al must love happy little mags like this.

what

A few years ago for a few months it seemed that there was an area of music which could do more than just provide a patronising escapist entertainment A music which tried to put across, communicate vital important ideas/issues a music which tried to change things and create an enviroment of change attacking the conventions of this moronising consumerist, capitalist controlled society.

In Coventry now there are a lot of bands who assume they fit in as a progression, the decendants of that music. What I find is that in Coventry now we get a regression back to the same shitty escapist entertainment very little forward movement at all 'punk' and 'new wave' hav been nullified absorbed, the reason why so many 'new wave' bands get on TOTP's Radio 1 is because they now say nothing, they have no effective statements to make

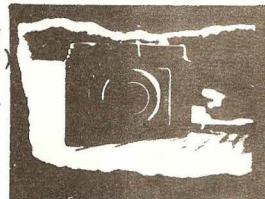

In Coventry bands make no reference to the world outside the Cov music scenes latest pub venue. This area of music they claim to now occupy is supposed to have a certain vitality concern/anger to bring up issues that are relevant to themselves and their audience. Where are the references to the crisis now facing Coventry mass redundancies/ massive cuts in public spending/ attacks on your education/your future. Coventry could soon be an industrial graveyard but you can forget all that by going up the Zodiac or Climax to listen to more mindless drivel (by August bus fares will have gone up approx 100% and many bus routes will have been axed so perhaps by then, when it will cost more to travel to a gig than to get in it, if there is a bus service at all we'll hear something like 'Bus Stop Blues')

By avoiding these and other issues (and coming out with pathetic statements about keeping politics out of music) bands just re-inforce the present regime re-inforced the reactionary attitudes and values the capatilists (like the music biz) rely on, which they present as 'normal' and do not get criticised. Instead of channeling (or awakening) your 'youthful rebellion' it is defused/ packaged off into an evening at the Climax or Zodiac, ultimately discredited when you see what a load of crap it all is so that you can 'grow up' and 'settle down' rejecting any alternatives to conformity.

At the moment the Zodiac and Climax pubs are the main havens of this youth culture in Coventry (not too much dancing or mis-behaving or we might lose the venue) even worse than these are the student unions in Coventry at the Butts and Lanch, both bring the reality of the outside world in by employing lots of bouncers ( the only other regular venue to need this fascist control is Tiffanies) the middle class students let you have your fun but let you know who is control.

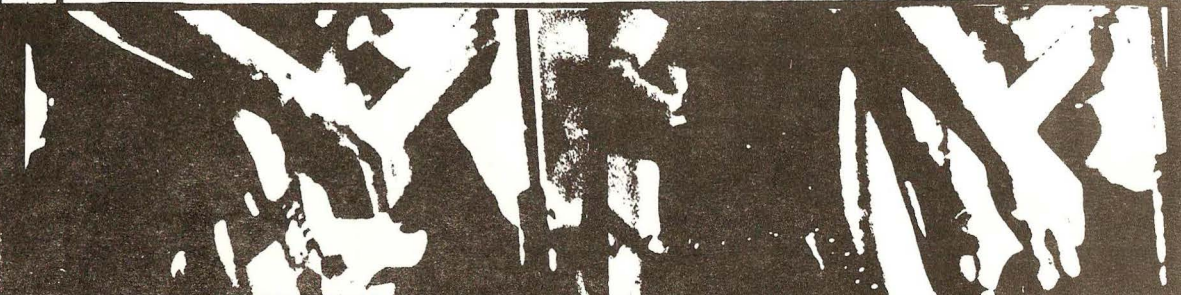

Ofcourse there are exceptions which prove the rule Criminal Class try to put something across but even then to a largely apathetic audience if they can't relate to Criminal Classes raw (not fashionable enough?) Anti Police Violence line then Coventry must seem to be full of middle class dead'eds or moronised Sun-lovers. a few bands do have a certain ammount of musical innovation and imagination but is just a progression in sound enough unless it is used effectively in communicating something. Live music is obsolete as a communitive media in any way except holding up the status quo an evenings fun rebellion then off to bed and back to work in the morning.
